⑥ Literature is an art because, uses creative language to pass human realities in the society; also the presentation of events (plot) makes it an art as well as the choice and use of imaginative characters. 4.5 marks -

8 ⑧ It means she has adopted a new language. She no longer speaks her native language (tongue) 01 marks

⑥ "Crossing the ocean" implies or symbolises changes that happen to people. As she crossed the ocean she never remained the same because ever her language changed. 01.2 marks

⑦ "a new one has sprung from the root of the old one?" In the this part poet talks something about the development of languages. We all know that languages are dynamic (always changing) and that they borrow words and even grammatical structure from each other. Languages like creoles come out of the blend of two or more languages. So the language she speaks originates/emanates from the old one. 02½ marks

⑧ The poem is made up of only one short stanza with 5 verses. 01½ mark
